Title of Original Program or Work: The Little Penguin Handbook, 3rd Canadian Edition, Lester Faigley, Roger Graves, Heather Graves.

Edition No.: 3

Initial estimated publication date of the Original Program or Work: 03/2015

Dear Permissions Manager:

Pearson Education, Inc., and its worldwide affiliates and subsidiary companies (collectively, "Pearson") respectfully request a license as follows:

PERMISSIONED MATERIALS:

The Selection(s) (text or images or rich media) listed at the bottom of this request letter to which we believe you hold the rights.

RIGHTS REQUESTED/ PERMITTED USES:

A non-exclusive license to use and authorize the use of the Permissioned Materials in Canada, in whole or in part, in the Original Program or Work and the next subsequent edition thereof (collectively, the "Program") and in any related Pearson educational products (as defined below), in all print and electronic forms, in English languages, versions and formats including in accessible versions, accessed or distributed by any means, including all methods and technologies now known or hereafter developed.

A "related Pearson educational product" as used in this request is defined as any Pearson offering that is primarily intended for education, instruction and/or training purposes, including but not limited to, books, programs, services, asset libraries, tools, and/or any other offering that supports education, instruction and/or training and that consists of material from the Program, alone or along with other materials, and/or that are components of, supplements to or intended to be used with the Program, alone or with other Pearson programs. By way of example only, the following are "related Pearson educational products:" (a) teacher editions, English language adaptations, custom versions, audio and audio visual versions, abridgements, split editions, brief editions, individual chapters or parts of chapters or compilations of the Program, and (b) other materials intended to support instruction in connection with the Program and other Pearson offerings, such as workbooks, teacher materials, presentation material and web sites.

Permitted uses include use and reproduction of the Permissioned Materials in the context of the Program or related Pearson educational product for promoting, advertising and/or marketing the Program or any related Pearson educational product. Reproduction/ distribution/delivery of the Pearson educational product may be by Pearson, directly or through authorized distributors. It is understood that Pearson customers/users may access, post, download, share, reproduce and display the Pearson educational product, including the Permissioned Materials, in whole or in part, for their non-commercial, educational and instructional purposes only.

Pearson's rights to use the Permissioned Materials in the Program and in related Pearson educational products shall be for a term of up to (10) years from the date of this license, except that termination of this license shall not affect any rights granted to end-users of the Program or any related Pearson educational product.

The permitted uses are subject only to print quantity limitations of 25,000 for the Program and related Pearson educational products containing the Permissioned Materials.

It is not the intention of Pearson to commercialize or distribute the Permissioned Materials as a stand-alone offering outside of the Original Program or the related Pearson educational product. The Permissioned Materials will be distributed only as part of or for use with the Original Program or related Pearson educational products where the primary value does not lie with the Permissioned Materials themselves.

In the event that use of the Permissioned Materials by Pearson, its authorized distributors and/or any customers or users exceeds this license granted to Pearson, or any other terms or obligations between Pearson and you, Pearson's sole obligation to you and the rights holder shall be payment to you for such additional use or uses in accordance with your or the rights holder's standard fees for such use (which, for purposes of clarification, shall not include any penalties or late fees).

Full credit will be given to the source you identify. Please indicate your agreement by signing and returning this letter to Vinoth Kumar. If you are not authorized to grant any or all of these rights, I would appreciate your letting me know the person we should contact to request the rights.

Your invoice(s) for permission fees are to be addressed to Pearson Education, Inc.

You agree that the terms of this Permission Request and License shall govern, without regard to other licenses, permissions or other terms and conditions on any website, forms, documents or invoices. All other terms are void.

Sincerely,

Vinoth Kumar

I (we) grant permission for the use of the Selection(s) below as set forth above. Without limiting the foregoing, I (we) also agree that this permission is renewable upon written notice from Pearson to me on the terms specified above, or if higher, my/ our then-standard terms for the requested use.
